• need more thought:

for rotational tasks

- how to have a housemate block off time periods if they are on vacation or out of town
- how to have the tasks be distributed in this case?
 - do they move on to next person in the rotation?

• need more thought:

- how do other users get a notification that they have been added to a household?

possible idea if user is not in a household the page shows a view with 2 options

1. create household
2. join household

OR instead of needing a code, one user creates a household and can add friends to the household using facebook.

add house mate

Use FB friends to search for your friend user enters household specific code to join a household.

user gets pop up to create a new household, give the household a name.

↓ user gets a code for that household that they can share with their house mates
